

Day	Date	Session no	Session start times					Duration (mins)	Session titles	Speaker(s)
			Geneva (UTC+1)	Nigeria (+1)	South Africa (+2)	Iran (+3½)	India (+5½)
1	8-11-21	1	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	120	Introduction and background	Amir Delju (WMO CS)
2	9-11-21	2	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	70	The role of climate information in adaptation planning: • how climate information contributes to adaptation planning • integrating climate science and sectoral needs	Amir Delju (WMO CS) Gregg Garfin (SW CASC)
3	10-11-21	3	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	85	Assembling technical resources to assess climate risk: • what technical skills are needed to use climate information effectively	Govindarajalu Srinivasan (RIMES)
4	11-11-21								Off-line assignment
5	12-11-21								Off-line assignment
6, 7
8	15-11-21	4	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	80	Reporting back on developing technical resources: • obstacles to developing technical resources • action planning to overcome obstacles	Jorge Vazquez-Aguirre
		5	11:00	11:00	12:00	13:30	15:30	75	The role of National Meteo-Hydrological Services in adaptation planning: • strengths and weaknesses in local NMHS	Jorge Vazquez-Aguirre

									• action planning to strengthen local NMHSs
9	16-11-21	6	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	80	The importance of climate information in prioritising action: • identifying local priority actions for adaptation • deciding what climate information is needed to meet priorities	Dr. Guillermo Podesta (ET-CID)
10	17-11-21	7	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	80	How climate products and services support adaptation: • understanding what climate products and services are • identifying national weaknesses in using climate products and services	Prof. Manola Brunet (SC-CLI)
11	18-11-21	8	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	85	Developing partnerships for using climate data: • identifying existing partnerships • action planning for strengthening partnerships	Dr. Jin Ho Yoo (APCC)
12	19-11-21	9	09:00	09:00	10:00	11:30	13:30	60	Workshop review: • what has been learnt • thinking about what happens next	